UN MILLENNIUM GOALS

RP 'performing poorly'

By JOHN C. RAMOS
and DOMINIC A. PAGAN

THE PHILIPPINES IS NOT CLOSE TO achieving its millennium goals, UN experts say, and the nation might not reach its targets by 2015.

The United Nations Development Program (UNDP) released its annual Human Development Report (HDR) on Monday, showing that the Philippines is performing poorly in most of the 10 goals set by the UN in 2000.

There is a particularly significant gap in the Philippines' progress in achieving its goal of halving poverty by 2015. The country is currently at 20 percent, while the target is 10 percent.

UNDP's annual Human Development Report (HDR) is a key indicator of a country's progress in achieving its millennium goals. It is based on data from the United Nations Development Program (UNDP) and the United Nations Statistics Division (UNSD).

₱1B from unused 'pork' for Bicol relief, rehab

MANILA, Dec. 9 (AP) — The House of Representatives has approved a ₱1-billion bill to fund relief and rehabilitation projects in the Bicol region, a move that could help the area recover from the effects of Typhoon Haiyan.

The bill, which was passed by a vote of 187-10, authorizes the release of the funds from the unused portion of the 2011 National Expenditure Program. The funds will be used for various projects, including the construction of roads, bridges, and other infrastructure, as well as for relief and rehabilitation projects.

The bill is part of a larger effort by the government to provide relief and rehabilitation to the Bicol region, which has been hit hard by Typhoon Haiyan. The typhoon caused widespread destruction, including the loss of lives and property, and the displacement of thousands of people.

The bill is expected to be signed into law by President Benigno Aquino III. The funds will be distributed to the Bicol region through the Department of Social Welfare and Development and the Department of Health.

Reming of no help in increasing levels of water in Angat Dam

By Thomas Brown

MANILA, Jan. 1 (AP) — The release of water from the Angat Dam, which has been held back for weeks, is expected to continue today, but officials say there is no hope of increasing the level of the reservoir.

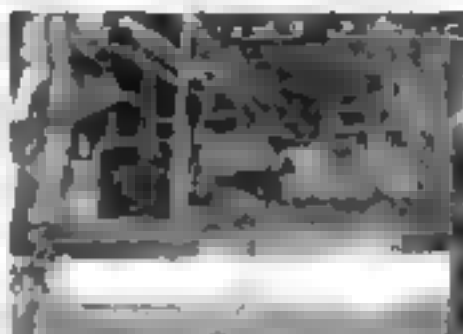

The dam, which is one of the largest in the world, has been holding back water since late last year. The water level has been rising steadily, but it is still far below the level needed to generate power.

Officials say that the dam is now at a level that is safe, but they are not sure when the water will be released. They say that the release of the water will be a gradual process, and it may take several weeks to complete.

The dam is owned by the National Power Corporation, and it is operated by the Angat Dam Project. The project is a joint venture between the government and private companies.

Judge junks TRO plea to tear down Binondo schools

By Pia E. Lopez

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — A judge has rejected a plea by the Tripartite Religious Organization (TRO) to tear down schools in Binondo, Manila, that it claims were built on sacred ground. The judge, Judge Carlos C. Reyes, Jr., of the Manila City Court, said the TRO's plea was "unavailing" and "lacked merit." The TRO, which is a coalition of various religious groups, had filed the plea in 2011, claiming that the schools were built on land that was sacred to the indigenous people of the area. The schools, which were built in the 19th century, are now in various states of disrepair. The TRO's plea was one of several attempts to have the schools removed. The judge's decision is a setback for the TRO, but it does not mean that the schools will remain standing. The TRO has indicated that it will appeal the decision.

Guidelines for enlisting 'tanod' out

RP expects to eliminate major disease by 2010

By Corina Lim

LEADING PHILIPPINE health officials expect to eliminate major diseases by 2010, a goal set by the Department of Health (DOH) and the World Health Organization (WHO).

DOH Secretary Francisco Duque III said the country is on track to achieve this goal, which is part of the WHO's Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). He noted that the Philippines has made significant progress in reducing the incidence of major diseases, particularly tuberculosis, malaria, and HIV/AIDS.

Dr. Duque said that the DOH has implemented a series of measures to combat these diseases, including the use of vaccines, antiretroviral therapy, and improved diagnostic tools. He also emphasized the importance of community-based health programs and the role of health workers in reaching underserved populations.

Despite these efforts, the DOH acknowledges that there is still a long way to go. It estimates that about 100,000 people are still living with HIV/AIDS, and that there are about 1 million people with tuberculosis. Malaria remains a significant public health problem, especially in rural areas.

Dr. Duque said that the DOH is committed to continuing its efforts to eliminate these diseases. It is working closely with the WHO and other international organizations to share best practices and to secure the resources needed to achieve the MDGs.

Drugs and blood tests

Health workers are using new drugs and blood tests to diagnose and treat major diseases. The DOH has introduced a new drug for the treatment of tuberculosis, which is more effective and has fewer side effects than the old drug. It has also introduced a new blood test for the diagnosis of HIV/AIDS, which is faster and more accurate than the old test.

Ph 1 math games for prison inmates

Prison inmates in the Philippines are now playing math games to improve their skills. The Department of Education (DepEd) has developed a series of math games that are suitable for use in prisons. These games are designed to help inmates improve their basic math skills, which is a requirement for many jobs in the Philippines.

DepEd officials said that the math games are easy to play and can be used by inmates of all ages and education levels. They are also designed to be fun and engaging, which helps to keep inmates motivated to learn. The games are being used in several prisons across the Philippines, and DepEd is planning to expand the program to more prisons in the future.

Thumbs down for milk toxin tests

Health officials in the Philippines have given a thumbs down to milk toxin tests. They said that the tests are not accurate and can be misleading. The tests are used to detect the presence of toxins in milk, which is a common source of food poisoning. However, the tests are often inaccurate, leading to false positives and false negatives.

Health officials said that the tests are not reliable enough to be used for the diagnosis of food poisoning. They recommended that people who suspect they have food poisoning should seek medical attention and get a proper diagnosis. They also advised people to be careful when buying and consuming milk, and to make sure it is fresh and properly stored.

Overstating results

Tracking the eyes

Health officials in the Philippines are tracking the eyes of people who are at risk of developing eye diseases. They are using a new technology called "eye tracking" to monitor the movement of the eyes. This technology can help doctors detect early signs of eye diseases, such as cataracts and glaucoma, which can lead to blindness if not treated early.

Health officials said that the eye tracking technology is a non-invasive and painless way to monitor the eyes. It can be used in a variety of settings, including hospitals, clinics, and community health centers. The technology is being used in several parts of the Philippines, and health officials are planning to expand the program to more areas in the future.

Why single rock women

Single women in the Philippines are more likely to be rockers than married women. A study conducted by a group of researchers found that single women are more likely to be involved in rock music, either as performers or as fans. The study found that single women are more likely to attend rock concerts, buy rock merchandise, and listen to rock music.

The researchers said that there are several reasons for this. One reason is that single women have more time and money to devote to their hobbies. Another reason is that single women are more likely to be part of a social network that is involved in rock music. The researchers also found that single women are more likely to be in a relationship with a man who is a rocker.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group was instructed to continue with their current level of activity. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks. The walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program significantly improved the subjects' physical fitness, as measured by the 6-minute walk test, and their psychological health, as measured by the Beck Depression Inventory and the State-Trait Anxiety Inventory. The walking program also had a significant positive effect on the subjects' quality of life, as measured by the SF-36. The walking program was well tolerated and had no adverse effects. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program can improve the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.

An unexpected visitor on Christmas Eve

Figure 1 consists of five panels, each showing a line graph of the number of females (Y-axis, 0 to 10) against time in days (X-axis, 0 to 14). The panels represent different stages of development: (a) 1st stage, (b) 2nd stage, (c) 3rd stage, (d) 4th stage, and (e) 5th stage. In all panels, the number of females starts at 10 at day 0 and decreases over time. The rate of decrease is highest in the 1st stage (a) and lowest in the 5th stage (e).

Congratulations to all the Winner

Holiday movies light up our screens

By Ben P. de la Cruz
 The holiday season is upon us, and with it, a wave of festive movies. From classic Christmas tales to modern holiday romances, the screens are filled with stories of love, family, and the magic of the season. Here are some of the top holiday movies to watch this weekend.

Director's Picks
 The holiday season is a time for reflection and joy. Movies like "The Christmas Chronicles" and "The Christmas Chronicles 2" offer a fun, magical take on the holiday. "The Christmas Chronicles" stars Macaulay Culkin and David Strathairn, while "The Christmas Chronicles 2" features Macaulay Culkin and David Strathairn. Both movies are perfect for the whole family.

Movie Recommendations
 For those looking for a more classic holiday movie, "The Christmas Story" is a must-watch. It's a hilarious and heartwarming tale of a family's struggles and triumphs during the holidays. Another classic is "A Christmas Carol," which tells the story of a miserly man who is transformed by the spirits of Christmas.

Billboard Special
 The holiday season is also a time for special events and promotions. Many retailers and restaurants are offering special deals and discounts to celebrate the season. Keep an eye on the local news and social media for more information on these special events.

It is now a 100,000-tonne capacity oil refinery, owned by a consortium of Israeli and Greek companies. The refinery is currently in full production and will continue to be so until the end of 1990, when it will be closed down and replaced by a new plant.
